

H & J Farms

Proud To Be Different

Search

Home

About

Our Birds

Tips & Info

Blog

Polls Archive

We'd Love Your Feedback!

Our Egg Producers

The sweet and gentle Buff Orpington, our original breed. Weighing in at about 8 lbs, these hens lay medium to large brown eggs consistently during warmer months and sporadically during the winter.

The classic white Leghorn, a prominent white egg producer. Known for their consistent egg laying ability, these 4 lb. hens begin laying eggs at an early age of about 4 1/2 months. At about 6 months, they lay large to jumbo eggs on a consistent basis. They are certainly the most jittery bird we've come across, operating about "a mile a minute".

The feather-footed Blue Cochinchina. A cool bird with vibrant colored undertones, these 8 1/2 lb. hens lay medium to large brown eggs.

The infamous Black Australorp, our latest addition. These friendly and well-mannered hens weigh about 6 1/2 lbs and hold the record of 364 eggs for the most consecutive eggs laid in a 365 day period – that's one busy bird!

Our Interns

Polls

How far would you drive for farm fresh eggs?

- >  0 - 1 mile
- >  1 - 3 miles
- >  3 - 7 miles
- >  7 - 10 miles
- >  10 - 15 miles
- >  As far as I need to go!

Vote

View Results

> Polls Archive

Categories

- > Community
- > Myths & Facts
- > Vegetable Produce

Chicken Coops

Buy From A Selection Of Chicken Coops Online At PetSmart® Today!
petsmart.com/Chicke...

AdChoices

© H & J Farms 2012

Powered by WordPress | Theme by N.Design

Written by Emery Road Writing Services, LLC

These feathery young ladies were hatched last February and will start laying eggs later this spring or early summer. We should have plenty of eggs available this summer to satisfy the growing demand for our eggs.

The Nursery

We recently added a few young Black Stars to our brood. They will produce large to extra-large brown eggs later this summer or early fall.

Roosters

Big Buff – Don't let the picture fool you; this bad boy is much, much bigger than he appears.

Leghorn Rooster – This pretty bird is territorial and you're best advised to stay away. He also has by far the loudest crow on our farm.

Buff/Leghorn Cross – This gorgeous fellow was hatched from our own brood last fall and is quickly stepping up to his role as "Protector of the Brood".

Share: